

ApplicationHA Console is the predecessor of Symantec High Availability Console.

At any given point of time, only one Console can be configured with a VMware vCenter server.

To configure the Symantec High Availability Console with a VMware vCenter Server that is already configured with ApplicationHA Console, you must upgrade the ApplicationHA Console to the Symantec High Availability Console.

The following figure represents the differences between ApplicationHA and Symantec High Availability Console:

